Webinar: Critical Conversations: Preparing to Talk With Family About Aging Issues | Nov. 28, 2018

When extended families gather for holidays or special occasions, it is often a mix of joy, anxiety, celebration, and stress. For older adults, many issues about the aging process might surface in difficult or complex ways. In some families, the warning signs of elder abuse, neglect, and financial exploitation may even present themselves. This webinar will focus on strategies that families and loved-ones can use to help prevent and address common issues before they turn into something worse.

Webinar Presenter

Sean Burke | Public Policy Director

Sean Burke is the Public Policy Director at the Minnesota Elder Justice Center. Sean has extensive experience and understanding of the complexity of issues facing older adults including abuse, neglect, and financial exploitation. Before coming to the MEJC, Sean served as an Equal Justice Works Fellow with the Senior Law Project at Mid-Minnesota Legal Aid, and as an attorney with the Minnesota Disability Law Center. He holds a law degree from the University of Minnesota. When he is not working as an advocate for older and vulnerable adults, Sean attempts to keep up with his twin toddlers.

I hereby certify that the above-named participant attended this webinar training for 1 contact hours/clock hours on November 28, 2018.
